

5. If you are to start a software company, name 2 people from your batch whom you will choose as your partner and why?

I will be choosing Amit and Tabish as both of them have the require skills and they always have a backup plan ready with them so in any case if there is unavailability of one the other people can manage each other successfully everytime.